That, Khrushchev conceded in 961, would be a matter of at least 20 years, while the U.S.S.R. was catching up with the United States and while it was "building communism." That was all right with the Soviets, apparently, but not with tne Communists-like the Chinese-in have-not nations or in revolution-laden areas, anxious to see Red power take over in their own time.

Essentially, Khrushchev's peaceful coexistence policy was one of "make haste slowly." impatient Communists denounced it as capitulation. To the Chinese he became "the greatest capitulationist of all time."

Telling Impact

It was this Soviet-first Impulse which had the most telling impact on world politics. Khrushchev did not surrender the Soviet claim to be the leader of the world revolution. He did not surrender the notion of violent revolution anywhere in the non-Communist world. He did not surrender the determination to foment and support such revolution. But the watchword consistently was caution.

In the breathing space that resulted, the ferment of change could be detected clearly in the Soviet Union and in some of the Communist nations of Europe. The urge for a better life obviously was exerting great pressure. It was changing commu-

Such change held a ray of hope for the future, a hope that Khrushchev's younger generation successors will see little percentage in gambling their prospects for the questionable goal of world revolution.

"As Your Senator . . . "

In two past major election campaigns, the editors of the Post-Crescent invited opponents running for office to submit their views to the people through a newspaper panel. It proved so successful, that, once again, an editorial board of the Post-Crescent invited Senatorial candidates William Proxmire and Wilbur Renk to state the issues in response to its deep-searching questions. This Sunday — Oct. 18 — readers will have the opportunity to read how — "as your Senator" - either Wilbur Renk or William Proxmire, will act in the U. S. Senate.

An all-encompassing question that involves all of mankind was the way Mrs. Charles F. Nolan, Oshkosh, described her topic, "Am I My Brother's Keeper?" Mrs. Nolan, named by the Catholic War Veterans' Auxiliary as their 'Woman of the Year' in 1963, was afternoon speaker Thursday at the 47th state convention of the Wisconsin Branch of the International Order of the King's Daughters and Sons, Inc., at Riverview Country Club.

The King's Daughters. Mrs. Nolan said, have long exemplified this 'care' attitude toward their fellow man. The social problems of our time are mushrooming, she said, and human progress in meeting social needs has not kept pace with the scientific gains of the last 25

Order CNW To Relocate Three Signals

The Chicago North Western Railway Co. today was ordered by the Wisconsin Public Service Commission to relocate crossing signals on three major Appleton streets.

The crossings are at:

-Badger Avenue and W. Wisconsin Avenue where the street is being widened from 36 to 48

-Drew Street near Atlantic Street where the new No. 1 fire station is being constructed and. a portion of the street has been widened. -The Meade Street junction with E. Wisconsin where the city is in the process of eliminating the jog. Recently the city petitioned:

the PSC to direct the railroad to relocate the warning signals.

The commission ordered the railroad to move the signals at its own expense within 30 days.

Political Broadcasts Beside French Transport Hurt Pre-Empted Shows

Studies Show Audience Drop-Outs Rise, Even 5-Minute Spots Cause Viewer Loss

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY

Recommended tonight: "Be-NEW YORK (AP) - The witched," ABC, 9-9:30-comedy three television networks are in which Samantha, a cauldronaccepting paid political broad-stirring witch, becomes intercasts, occasionally pre-empting ested in her advertising man entertainment programs and husband's new soup account; making room for short talks at "The Defenders," CBS, 10-11 the end of shows. They are doing it, but none really likes them very much.

The reason is clear: A political broadcast, even when it is only a five-minute one - invariably loses some of the audience, over and above the usual end of program channel switching. Studies made during the 1960 campaign indicated that a political advertisement. regardless of the party that paid for it, caused a drop-out of audience about 12 per cent higher. than usual. That, of course, was not true of the Kennedy-Nixon debates which rolled up huge 10 80-- Dennik the Menace 10.36-- Sir Francis Drake audiences.

This year, paid, half-hour campaign programs by both Republican and Democrats in spots normally occupied by entertainment shows have caused sharp anticipated dropoff in audience sizes, reflected in the projected figures of television rating services.

"Even those five minute spots at the end of shows result in viewers moving away," said a network research man. "The result is that you lose your leadin to the next program. It doesn't happen so much with the one minute and shorter spots - most viewers are willing to ride with them."

Letter to Busch Dated Sept. 28

ST. LOUIS (AP) - Johnny Keane, manager of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals, has submitted his resignation in a letter to owner August A. Busch Jr. dated Sept. 28-a week before the regular season

Keane wrote that his resignation should be effective at the end of the last championship National League Game, whether it be the end of the regular season or the completion of the World Series.

Keane denied report that he would take the managerial job at Pittsturgh, vacated by Danny Murtaugh. There also has been some talk that Keane could wind up in New York as a coach and heir apparent to Mets Manager Casev Stengel.

Talks to Durocher It was not known immediately where Busch would seek a new manager, but he did talk to Leo Durocher, former manager of the New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers, while the Cardinals were still battling for the pennant. Keane seemed headed out late in August as the Cardinals were running fourth in the pennant race, a whopping 11 games back. But they began to close ground at the end, reeled off eight consecutive victories at one point late in September and eventually clinched the pennant on the last day of the season. The Cardinals then wound up the successful comeback Thursday by beating the New York Yankees in the seventh and deciding game of the World In the final days of the season

Busch offered Keane a new contract. But Keane told the Cardinal club owner he would not make a decision until the 361 Days A Year ...

Autumn . . . Winter . . . Spring . . . Summer . . . the four seasons move around the calendar and only one thing equals their certainty — the ever-re-ponsible new-paper boy and his will to succeed. Neither the smoldering black frown of a threatening summer storm, nor the frigidly chill wind that heralds a winter blizzard halts the determined new-carrier from fulfilling the obligation he has voluntarily assumed — delivering the daily and Sunday Post-Crescent to the thousands of waiting homes. He prefers the pleasantries of summer and the leaf-kicking fun of autumn (even though a vacant lot ball game may beckon), but the call of duty must—and does—have its answer.

Tomorrow – International Newspaperboy Day – will be no different than the other 360 days for him. For us, though, it provides the opportunity to extend a hand of thanks, a smile of encouragement, a salute of pride and a blessing for a lifetime of success and happiness.

Read the newspaper cognizant of its responsibility to the community it serves and the youth who serve it.

Famous Speech

Khrushchev delivered famous speech against Stalinism at the 20th congress in 1956. The 22nd congress five years later set longterm goals of improved economic conditions and the attainment of communism. Any attempt to drop these policies would probably meet strong popular resistance, many diplomats in Moscow believe.

There was general relief that Khrushchev's departure would open the way to at least a measure of reconciliation between the Soviet Union and Red China: For the past year Peking has hammered at the theme that Khrushchev stood as a personal celing plans to make appear-SIOUA FALLS, S.D. People-to-People Conference at Lawrence U. and a State Board of Health report on communicable diseases in the Fox Valley are highly informative.

"Old Mexico" aura surrounds the marriage of a young lady who migrated to the Fox Cities from Texas at the age of seven.

"View" goes flying with the modern "jet-set" —the hard-working, tragedy-averting CAP cadets.

THIS...is a newspaper

I am something malleable called newsprint made from something unmalleable called wood pulp.

I am conceived, born, raised, nurtured to old age and dead... all in a 24-hour period. Even after I am dead. I am useful for several things like swatting flies, lining drawers and shelves, starting barbecue and hearth fires and enfolding the day's accumulation of garbage. I've even been known to keep people reasonably dry at baseball games during rainstorms.

I can be torn and clipped into pieces of various sizes. Ladies often carry some of these pieces in their shopping bags as reminders of what they want to buy and where they can get it. They, as well as their husbands, also mail pieces of me to friends and relatives like a recipe for marmalade to Aunt Martha, a picture of Dad and the "big one" that didn't get away, or a notice to Joe that the girl next door finally got married. I am the only media you can do this with.

I am joyful, entertaining, the courier of laughter and good news.

If asked, I can shout loud and harshly and boldly to all who can see me.

I prefer to speak softly, directly and, above all, truthfully.

People often accuse me of being biased, prejudiced, opinionated and overbearing.

I try to be impartial, tolerant, understanding and forthright.

I am not a mirror, but I reflect the image of a community by what I am able to say about the people of the community.

For this reason, some people say I am a gossip, nosey, and a blabber-mouth.

I like to think that I am informative, inquisitive, and purposeful.

Every day, I average enough words to complete two lengths novels . . . words that are as accurate, as descriptive, as knowledgeable as human effort and sound education can make them.

I have both a character and a personality. These are equal to the character and personality of those who conceive, and nurture me and witness my daily demise and next day's reincarnation.

I am a friend of love, compassion, understanding, freedom, justice, education, worship, progress, democracy, people . . . and animals.

I am an encyclopedia of knowledge about war and peace: the stars in space and the caverns of the tion, despotism, and phosts.

I am what people make me, because I am the result of all that they think, everything they do . . . to themselves and to each other.

I am able to be remembered longer than any other media because I am not waves of air nor just electrical impulses.

I am read by the majority of people from the day they can read to the time when they can no longer see . . . nor need to know.

I may disagree with what people read, but I defend their right to read it with all the strength at my command.

NEW LONDON-Ralph Genring. Shiocton, state committeeman of the Agricultural Stabihzation and Conservation Service (ASCS), told the Waupaca Community committeemen Tuesday that without federal farm programs, farm prices would drop sharply and this would cause one of the greatest economic disasters in the history of the country

Everyone is dependent on a good, sound agricultural program." Gehring stated Farm programs benefit not only the farmer, he said Everyone ben-

Other Subsidy Programs

If all programs were halted it is estimated that farm income would drop 40 to 45 per cent and one million farm families would seek employment in the cities. Gehring said, adding, If there is anything this country doesn't need it is a million more unskilled laborers

Out of every $1,000 spent by the government in subsidy programs only $5 is given to the farmer These programs include shipping, mail subsidies and

Price-Support Set for Waupaca Corn Crop Loans

MANAWA - Price - support loans for the 1964 corn crop will average $1.12 per bushel in Waupaca County, Martin B. Thorson, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee has announced.

This compares with the 1963 crep loan rate of $1.09 per bush-

The 1964 loan rate, plus a price-support payment of 15 cents a bushel, gives a total price support average rate of $1.27 per bushel for 1964-crop corn. While the loan rate varies according to the grades and qualities of individual crops, the price-support payment per bushel is the same for all farms.

The average county loan rate of $1.12 per bushel is for 1964 crop corn grading No. 3, or No. 4 on the factor of test weight only, but otherwise grading No. 3. except for moisture. Premiums and discounts for other. grades and qualities are unchanged from these in effect in 1963.

The Issues - III -Communism and Communist Countries

Probably on no other issue do the stands of President Johnson and Senator Goldwater differ as widely as in how we should confront Communism and deal with the Communist nations.

Both recognize and cite the dangers of Communism but President Johnson feels that there are other serious problems in the world while Senator Goldwater stresses the importance of defeating the forces of the Communist world as our only real problem.

Writes President Johnson: "Communists, using force and intrigue, seek to bring about a Communist-dominated world ... we must resolutely oppose, with all of our might, that effort, . . The world remembers-the world must never forgetthat aggression unchallenged is aggression unleashed ... Our hope for success in the aims of peace rests on the strength of our

But the President also speaks of "another value which guides America's course. It is the deep American belief in the peaceful process of orderly settlement. . . It is our duty to work toward the acceptance of the principle that disputes should be settled without force . . . among allies and enemies alike ... Our firmness in moments of crisis has always been matched by restraint. . . There is no place in today's world for weakness. But there is also no place for recklessness. . . Today, as always, if a nation is to keep its freedom it must be prepared to risk war. But as long as I am President. I will spare neither my office nor myself in the quest

The Democratic platform quotes President Kennedy: "Through our policy of never negotiating from fear but never fearing to negotiate" we may reach more disarmament.

Senator Goldwater sees Communism not only as the major threat to the world today but the only threat. He declares that we have been losing the cold war to the Communists in Berlin. Cuba. and Southeast Asia. He follows the Republican platform which declares that "it is accommodation, not opposition, that encourages a hostile nation to remain hostile. The road to peace is a road not of fawning amiability but of strength and respect."

The major objective of United States foreign policy," writes Goldwater, "should be the reduction of Communist power to a level from which it cannot threaten the security of our nation or the peace of the world. . . This does not mean war. It means the alternative to war: a way to win peace-to end threats to the nationwithout war. Together the free nations hold the balance of world power. They greatly outproduce the Communist na tions, whose economies . . . would stagnate without constant infusions of Western productivity... Communism demonstrably has been freedom's archenemy. But we have tended to hide freedom's light under a bushel of our own reticence. . . If we fail to exploit these other instruments of national power, there eventually will come a time when military instruments alone will serve and our only alternative will be war or surrender.

Their opinions have also been put to action. President Johnson supported and signed the wheat sale to Russia, he supported the nuclear test ban treaty and he writes that "we will continue to build bridges across the gulf which has divided us from Eastern Europe-bridges of trade. of ideas, of visitors, and of humanitarian aid . . to open new relationships to countries seeking increased independence of mind yet unable to risk isolation . . . to open the minds of a new generation to the values and visions of Western civilization . . . to give play to the powerful forces of national pride as the strongest barrier against the ambition of any country to dominate another . . . to demonstrate that prospects of progress for Eastern Europe he in a wider relationship with the West.

. . . The nations of Eastern Europe are beginning to reassert their own identity. There is no longer a single Iron Curtain. There are many. Each differs in strength and thickness-in the light that can pass through it and the hopes that can prosper behind it."

But Senator Goldwater has consistently opposed trading with Communist nations, the wheat sale to Russia, the nuclear test ban treaty, and aid to satellite countries.

"A policy of coexistence has failed to alter Communism's goal of destroying the political and social forms of the non-Communist world. . . Easing the arms race will not ease tensions. It will encourage the Communists to adopt increasingly reckless tactics... The suggestion that Khrushchev is a 'better' Communist for our purposes . . . is a naive Western notion. . . The hope that freedom and Communism can live peaceably, side by side, is a vain hope for it takes two to live at peace. The Communists cannot, and will not, live at peace, nog-tied as they are by their own militant ideology. . . .*

Goldwater opposes dealing with the satellites because "U. S. assistance to Communist-ruled countries has not helped foster any significant independence from Soviet domination. . . By easing the strains Editor. Post-Crescent: on the economies of both the satellite nations and the Soviet Union, our aid has furnished new strength to the Communist bloc. . . Our aid has not helped the wonderful people of Yugoslavia or Poland or any other victims of Communist oppression. It has supported their Communist conquerors. U. S. aid . . . helps them avoid paying the full price of being Com-

Johnson and Goldwater both support the isolation of Cuba but differ in how effective it is. Republican vice-presidential candidate William Miller has proposed arming and supporting a new Cuban exile invasion of the island but has not said whether our support should include American military forces of any kind.

President Johnson writes that in our efforts to win against war and Communism "the only course is to press with all our minds and all our will to make sure. doubly sure, that these weapons are never used. . ." Our course toward peace should include "restraint in the use of power . . . the search for practical solutions to par- Outagamie County for a num- Korea. President Truman saw tected all Southeast Asia from ticular problems . . . proper respect for the rights and fears of others . . . adjusting disputes without force" and recognition that "peace . . . is a world where no nation fears another . . . we must treat others with peaceful respect."

Senator Goldwater, following the Republican platform of "a dynamic strategy aimed at victory" writes that "ending the Communist power to distort human life and disrupt world peace is the vision of victory that has the power to inspire and the inspiration to win. It is the victory that would snuff out the fuse of war and aggression, liberate peoples, and assure ordered fulfillment of reasonable hopes everywhere. . . I have tried to propose here a standard which free men can share and to which they can repair. The achievement of peace by the reduction of Communist power without all-out war should head the list of priorities. . ."

Forestry Camps Dropped

When the State Department of Public Welfare several years ago developed a long-range building program for its institutions and services, it gave high priority to a proposal for a series of forestry work camps for adult delinquents. Such enterprises had been discussed for many years and when the department listed its priorities schedule, it was with some applause from interested private citizens who are aware of the outdoors work project opportunities, on the one hand, and the value of such work experience for certain types of offenders, on the other

But now the Welfare Department has abruptly changed its objectives and has in effect abandoned the work camp idea and is getting approval of the state building commission for an expansion of existing institutions for the confinement of pris-

Wilbur Schmidt, the director of the department, the other day reported that the principal reason is the inability of the Conservation Department, the proposed partner in such a program, to locate forest work sites that will provide enough work opportunity to justify the establishment of a camp.

We have no doubt that Mr Schmidt's report and explanation were made in good

But we are skeptical about the attitude of the Conservation Department, nevertheless. We are especially dubious now, when the department is heavily engaged in the largest and most costly recreational and forest land acquisition in its history as a consequence of the enactment of the Outdoors Recreation Act several years ago.

Already there are complaints, in the legislature and elsewhere, that the focus of that program is exclusively on acquisition and that very little has been done about development and improvement of the properties The Conservation Department says its budget is not equipped to finance such improvements. Yet at the same time it is represented in a public proceeding as spurning the availability of prisoner labor offered to it.

There is a contradiction here, and we would suggest that Mr. Alfonsi and other members of the building commission, interested in the conservation program as they are, might reasonably explore the

Wisconsin Report Roll Call Record Not

Always Reliable Test Of Legislator's Work

MADISON - One of these miscues that make the life of the politician interesting and dan gerous was the laborious work of Sen. Ern-Keppler of Sheboygan a few months ago in compiling a roll call record Wyngaard of the State during its long 1963 session.

The Keppler document has found its way into print, with painfully embarrassing consequences for some of his colleagues. They were put on the defensive in their own local re-election drives through about their documented abbusiness. As a guess, the young Sheboygan legislator advice from his elders about the rules of the legislative fraternity, including the tacit asto toot one's own horn about such matters, but it is not polite to make comparisons to the detriment of a colleague in the process.

THE FACTS

Senate

One of the standard claims of the legislator, in Madison or in Washington, who manages to make a good attendance record is that the performance suggests superior service. It may. But it is not always proof of the representative's diligence or effective-

In the Wisconsin Legislature, for example, a literally perfect attendance record is extremely rare, suggesting strongly that it is difficult to attain.

This does not mean that most legislators are lazy or indifferent. More likely means that the roll call device is used so frequently that only the exceptionally determined man can manage to be counted on every record vote.

The rules of procedure are so liberal, and the rights of minority interests are so carenot uncommon to have 30 or uency.

question. Many of them are strictly precedural and technical questions that have no relation to the merits of the proposition or its ultimate disposition. A favorite roll call is on motions for reconsideration, for example, which gives the legislator a chance to be recorded on both sides of an issue in a technical way in the event he is worried about pressures on both sides and challenges from the defeated interest in the next legislative elections.

There are also legitimate reasons for missing roll calls, especialy if a legislator has reached a position of some rank and infuence. What does a senator do when the mayor of his home town is in the galchallenges of their opponents lery and sends him an urgent message asking for a meeting sence from the legislature's in the lobby? Often there are political consultations during a session that have more rehas already had some pointed lation to the ultimate fate of a pending proposition than the routine business on the floor. Altogether, a high ratio of roll sumption that it is permitted call attendance is an uncertain measure of a legislator's fidelity.

AND AGAIN

With all that said, there is also the phenomenon of avoiding roll calls, among the timid, or the insecure, or the lazy in the legislative membership. "Taking a walk" is the established euphemism for the legislator who ducks a roll call because he fears retribution from one potent interest or the other. There is the human tendency, after a couple of thousands of roll calls, to chat in the lobby, or to idle in the ceffee shop, when seemingly unimportant issues are being debated and voted upon.

All kinds of ingenious excuses are invented by such men when they are caught in the act. Some years ago an established upper Wisconsin politician whose courage was not quite equal to his reputation invented the excuse of a "conference with the governor" to explain his persistent and numerous roll call absences. The explanation became a kind of derisive campaign cry against fully protected in the state him in his district, and he was legislative system, that it is retired by a skeptical constit-a fellow says to us the other day.

"I see those big city newspapers he says, bout a hundred miles or so from here advertise 12 big sections, lots o' world coverage and plenty of local news, too."

I was out raking the leaves in my yard and this fellow-my neighbor—was just sort of standing there ... watching me.

"Yeah, I see that," I said, and swiped at a clump of yellow leaves. I find leaves—and sometimes neighbors—rather irritating at times. Corralling some brown leaves, too, I asked:

"What seems so impressive 'bout that? Care to enlighten me?" I can sound pretty sarcastic when I'm irritated.

"Well," he says, not lifting a hand or a rake, "well, that bit about all the local news ..."

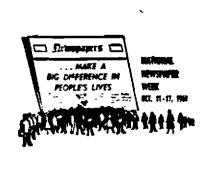

"Aha!" I shouted, while my leaves did a whirling dervish. "What local news? Did you by any chance read about your little girl's P.T.A. meeting? Did you read the details of your son's high school football game? . . . or how he came out in the Science Fair? Did you find out about your club meeting while you were gone? . . . or about your store winning that award? . . . or what the city council decided to do about our street? ... or whether Mrs. McGillicudy had her third baby? And did your wife read about the big shopping jamboree going on downtown? Come on now, did she . . . DID SHE?" Sometimes I get to screaming around my neighborhood . . . especially when I'm raking leaves. My neighbor looked at me kind o' startled, then said:

"Sure, sure I read about all that!" Boy, was I startled.

"Where? WHERE? I hollered as more leaves tumbled down.

"Right in YOUR newspaper," my neighbor said, right in the Post-Crescent . . . where else?" Then he turned and slowly walked back into his house.

One thing bothers me, though: when is he going to start raking his leaves?

Other Points in Presidential Race Are Secondary

BY DAVID LAWRENCE WASHINGTON - The so-called "neace issue" in the presidential campaign is not which presidential candidate wants peace for they both do - but what policy is likely to bring on or avert war.

The true is-Fue is the danger of war in the next few vears. It will not come because an American president wants to use nuclear weapons. Indeed. nuclear weapons are so suicidal today that neither side will dare to use them anyway. The nuclear war scare injected into the presidential campaign is a specious gimmick and a reckless tactic which could result in a miscalculation of the American position and increase the danger of war. For several years now, many military men have written off the prospect of a nuclear war. but have insisted that not enough thought has been or is Your Money's Worth being given to the prospect of war. Yet death is no different is the result of a nuclear explo-
